Details :

BIO / 2026

Dianna Maneer is a storyteller, teacher, and prophetic guide whose voice has been shaped by wilderness seasons, quiet revelations, and the gentle nearness of God. Through Her Promised Life, she speaks to the awakening woman—the one who feels the stirring of something deeper calling her forward.

Her journey weaves through heartbreak, motherhood, spiritual awakening, and the slow, holy rebuilding of a life aligned with God's original design. Each chapter has formed her into a woman who sees beneath the surface, who listens with her whole body, and who carries a message meant for those rising from hiddenness into clarity.

Dianna's teaching is tender yet grounded, rooted in Scripture yet deeply embodied. She believes wholeness is cultivated through rhythm, rest, and the everyday choices that return us to the Father's presence. Her work blends testimony, revelation, and sacred wellness—inviting women into a life where spiritual, emotional, and physical harmony are not luxuries but divine intention.

Whether she is speaking at a church, guiding a small retreat, or writing quietly at home, Dianna carries an atmosphere of peace and awakening. Her words remind women that their story is not random, their pain is not wasted, and their becoming is already held in the hands of a faithful God.

She lives in Lake Park, Georgia with her husband and children, cultivating a home shaped by beauty, rhythm, and the gentle practices of a life lived close to God.

- Rhythms of Wholeness: rest, presence, and body-honoring spiritual practices
- Motherhood in Motion: rediscovering the sacred work of raising children
- Living From Within: learning to hear the voice of God in the quiet places
- The Hidden Woman Rising: stepping out of hiding and into purpose
- Becoming the Promise: surrendering to God's original design for your life
- Testimony & Transformation: how your story becomes your calling
- Wellness by Design: understanding the body as a sacred vessel
- Spiritual Clarity: letting the Holy Spirit make sense of the fog
- Sacred Surrender: how alignment with God becomes the doorway to peace
- Inner Healing: emotional honesty as a pathway to restoration
- Walking in Wisdom: discerning God's will in practical daily life

What Women are saying

"I've never heard anyone explain God this way... like He's not far from me, but already living within me. You're helping me see Him differently."

"Your story makes me feel less alone. It gives language to things I've carried for years."

"It's like you're saying the thing my spirit has been whispering, but I never had words for."

"Your posts are the first thing that have made me feel hope in a long season of numbness."

"I don't know how you do it, but every time you post, it speaks straight to what I'm going through."

"I feel like you're explaining things I've felt for years but never knew how to say."

"Your words make me slow down and actually breathe again."

"This made me cry in the best way. Thank you for helping me understand what God is doing in me."

"I didn't even know I needed this reminder today."

"You always post exactly what my heart is feeling."

"This is the first time in a long time I've felt hope reading something."

"Wow... this hit me hard. I've been feeling lost, and this helped me feel not so alone."

"I don't know why, but your writing brings so much peace to me."

"It feels like you're talking directly to me. Like you know me."

"I'm seeing God differently because of the way you explain things."

"You're helping me reconnect with myself again."

"This made something click inside me. Like suddenly I understand what God has been trying to tell me."

"You have no idea how much I needed to hear this today."

"Every time I read your words, I feel a little lighter."

"It's wild how accurate this is to what I'm going through."

"This gave me clarity I've been praying for."

"Thank you for being so honest. It helps the rest of us feel safe to be honest too."

"I didn't realize other women felt this way until I read your post."

"Your voice is helping me heal parts of myself I didn't even realize were hurting."

Her Promised Life • Author • Speaker • Storyteller

Short Bio

Dianna Maneer is a writer, teacher, and prophetic storyteller carrying a message for the awakened woman. Through her brand Her Promised Life, she guides women into deeper intimacy with God, body-honoring rhythms, and the restoration of identity.

Medium Bio

Dianna Maneer is a voice for women rising into wholeness. As the founder of Her Promised Life, she teaches the sacred art of slowing down, listening within, and reclaiming the divine design God placed in every woman. Her story—woven through wilderness seasons, spiritual awakening, motherhood, and healing—has shaped her into a guide for those standing at the threshold of transformation.

Full Bio

Dianna Maneer is a storyteller shaped by wilderness seasons, holy interruptions, and the quiet voice of God that kept calling her home long before she knew how to listen. Her journey winds through heartbreak, motherhood, spiritual awakening, and the slow rebuilding of a life that finally aligned with the truth God had been whispering from the beginning: You were never abandoned. You were always being led. As the founder of Her Promised Life, Dianna speaks to women who feel the stir of something rising within them — a remembering, a returning, a call back to the woman God originally designed them to be. Her message is not polished or predictable; it is raw, embodied, and drenched in the Presence. She invites women into a life where God is not distant or compartmentalized, but woven into every breath, every rhythm, every ordinary moment that becomes holy when we touch it with awareness.

Today, Dianna lives in Lake Park, Georgia with her husband and children, creating a home that reflects the very message she carries: that heaven is not far away. It is here, now, rising within us. And every woman has a story worth telling — because every story, when surrendered, becomes a doorway back to the Father.
